About the Book

When it comes to a family feast, it's all-hands-on-deck! Big Ma and Pops have been up early in anticipation of everyone's arrival. Aunts, uncles, and cousins gather from all over to help prepare their big meal. Clanging pots, chopping vegetables, sharing recipes, and swiping little treats are part of the fun! After the cooking is done, all of the relatives come together to pray, eat, and enjoy their special moment as a family.

Newbery Honor and Children's Literature Legacy Award winner Carole Boston Weatherford and Coretta Scott King Illustrator Award winner Frank Morrison deliver a heartwarming peek at the love and the chaos that ensue when a family comes together and connects through food.

After the Story

Ask readers the following questions. How often does your family gather for a family feast? What do those celebrations look like?

Food is central to the story. Think of a food you like to eat. Find a recipe for your favorite dish and make it at home with friends or family.

Your Family Feast

Think about a time when your family gathers, in a big group or a small setting, for a family feast or celebration. Draw a picture of the gathering including who would attend and what foods would be served.

Dig In

Pops leads grace, gives thanks for kin, saints who paved the way back then.

When it's finally time to sit down and eat, Pops leads the family in saying grace and giving thanks. Write out your own gratitude list below and share it with friends and family the next time you sit down for a meal.
